Are you a driven and personable individual looking for a new Regulatory challenge? Do you have experience within international regulatory product development? Are you looking for a regional role with responsibility across EMEA?

If the answer is yes - then look no further. Church & Dwight UK Ltd have an exciting opportunity for a EMEA Regulatory Affairs Specialist to join our Regulatory team based at our Euston, London Office with occasional worldwide business travel and to our Folkestone sites. This role will report to our Director of Global Regulatory Affairs in the US.

As the Regulatory Affairs Specialist you will provide regulatory expertise, direction and strategy in support of our brands. This will include complex technical projects and occasional acquisition of local resources in support of our products supplied through distributors in Europe, Middle East and Africa whilst managing regulatory registrations.

You'll work closely with key internal stakeholders including within our Global Markets Group and Sales functions to support product launches and lead the assembly of technical documentation and product information packages.

Our Regulatory Affairs Specialist is a critical stand-alone role within the organization so the ideal candidate will require international regulatory experience ideally within the pharmaceutical, cosmetic or medical devices industry. We are seeking a candidate with the ability to communicate and build relationships across suppliers, distributors and internal parties and experience of the regulatory affairs function preferably within EMEA markets.

In return, we offer a competitive salary with 24 days annual leave, an annual company performance related bonus, health cash plan and highly competitive pension scheme.

This is a great opportunity to work with recognisable global brands and shape their future. Sounds interesting? Send us your CV, confirming your salary expectations, and let's talk!
